

After the dizzy round of carnival gaieties, a dull week was to be anticipated. Hardly anything occurred to awaken society from its lethargy, save one or two very small and very informal gatherings. It is not by any means, though, a Rip Van Winkle sleep in which the social leaders are indulging, and by next week affairs will be going on at full swing again.

The yearly exodus of the fashionables to summering places has already begun, and many more within the next week will desert the charms that lie scattered under the crumpled and shadows of Moroni.

That means that home gatherings from now on will be very much on the wane, and locally society will be a very dull thing indeed. Just at present it looks as though those who are to remain in Zion may take some encouragement, as there will not be nearly so many this year as last who will go off in search of other fields and pastures new.

The fate of the home-stayers will not be so bad after all. Jaunts out to the lake are soul-satisfying things, and Salt Lake, in the flush of her summer garb, approaches almost to the dignity of a summer resort herself. Many of the fashionables who love not to linger on her brine-washed borders during the summer will seek out the land of orange blossoms and gold, but most of the social exiles will be content to flee to the mountains that throw up their snowy breasts to the clouds around and above the sky-craddled city.

The only noteworthy events of the week were the Downey party yesterday and the hop at the post.

Mrs. C. H. Kraft has invitations out for a Kensington tea Tuesday of this week.

The most delightful affair of the week was the lake party given last night by Mr. and Mrs. George F. Downey in compliment to Mr. Tom and Mrs. Davis of Virginia. The party left the city in a private car at 5:30 o'clock. On reaching the lake most of the guests enjoyed a bath after which a dainty repast was served. The party was very informal and was most thoroughly enjoyed by all. It will undoubtedly be the forerunner of many such affairs.

Miss Margaret Park entertained a few friends at supper after a bicycle ride on Thursday evening which was enjoyed by Miss Webster, Miss Ebbelyn Weber, Miss Edna Shearman, Miss Kate, Mr. Grant Hampton, Mr. George Nye, Mr. Will Ford, Mr. Alma Katz and Mr. Harry Shearman.

One of the prettiest home weddings that has occurred this summer was that of Mrs. Susie B. Root and Captain Rhodes which took place last Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shearman. The bride wore a very handsome brown cloth traveling gown with hat and gloves to match and carried a bunch of bride roses. After the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Mr. Wallace, of the Episcopal church, the happy couple received the congratulations of their friends and soon after left for Wasatch where they will spend the next few weeks.

Miss Edna Shearman entertains this evening at a charming dish tea in honor of Mr. Tom Davis and Mr. Roy Shearman. The invited guests are Miss Shearman, Miss Ora Harkness, Miss Alf, and Mr. Harry Shearman and Mr. George Wallace.

Mrs. William Jennings leaves the early part of the week to visit Mrs. Iglehart at Brighton.

Mrs. William Reid entertained at dinner Thursday evening.

Mr. Will Lawrence, superintendent of the North Star mine, is up from Eureka.

Mr. Kent Smith has returned to Eureka.

Fort Douglas was the scene of a delightfully informal hop last evening. The pretty hall, superb music and numberless Chinese lanterns hung through the grounds made the evening a most enjoyable one for the following: Captain and Mrs. Noble, Lieutenant and Mrs. Wright, Lieutenant and Mrs. Carey, Lieutenant and Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Stevenson, Miss Clara, Miss Harding, Miss Edna Remington, Miss Marie, of Los Angeles, Miss Colton, Miss Kate Williams, Miss Stella Terman, Miss Florence Roudy, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Caine, Mr. Sidney Hooper, Mr. Ben Smith, Mr. Will Lawrence, Mr. George Lawrence, Mr. Max Smith, Mr. Moore, Mr. Wayne Smith, Mr. Cash, Mr. Goodwin, Mr. Westcott, Mr. Burt Varian, Mr. Miles Varian.

The mask carnival to be given at Saltair Wednesday evening by the employees of the Salt Lake theatre is attracting considerable attention. A large party of society people has been made up to look on and the prizes exceed anything yet given and will, in consequence, attract a large number of maskers.

Miss Annie Pike, the talented young Provo writer, is the guest of Mrs. Joseph Lippman, 502 Third street.

Mrs. Jennie Hawley Woodrow has returned from the east.

Mrs. Kenneth C. Kerr is at home Wednesday, No. 275 First street.

The Misses Shearman are numbered among those who will stay at home.

Miss Webster will visit friends at Brighton.

Mrs. Sig Simon and children departed Friday for camp in the Big Cottonwood, where they will remain during the summer.

OGDEN SOCIETY.

In June, 1892, Mrs. Frank J. Cannon began the custom of bringing all the old ladies together at her home and of entertaining them. The first reunion was such a success and gave such undoubted pleasure to the ladies that Mr. and Mrs. Cannon decided to keep up the custom. Heretofore all such entertainments have been in June, but this year Friday, July 10, was the day selected.

Among those who aided Mrs. Cannon in bringing the old ladies together and in making the day pleasant for them were Mrs. Emily Shurtliff, Mrs. Millie Pyle, Mrs. Asa Shurtliff, Mrs. May Brown and Miss Hattie Packard. Conveyances were sent all over the city and by 10 o'clock the guests were all present at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Cannon on Twenty-fifth street, opposite Lester Park. Those present were: Ruth M. Lawson, Maria L. Newman, Hannah Carwell, Caroline Donlon, Eliza Chiles, Sarah Adair, Emma Walcott, Charlotte Leavitt, Dinah Holroyd, Emma Randall, Mary Butler, Elizabeth Kingsford, Eliza Horspool, Ann Farr, Mary A. West, Sarah West, Jane S. Richards, Mary A. Ellis, Esther Roper, Jerusha Murphy, Elizabeth Boyle, Margaret P. Adams, Ann Browning, A. C. Lost, Ann O. Dell, Ann Slater, Bessie Oakley, Sarah Jane Cannon, mother of Senator Cannon, Kessie Davis, Charlotte Regulator, Frank J. Cannon, Martha H. Brown and Charlotte Driver.

Among those who usually attend these reunions, but who were missed this year on account of illness or absence from the city were Mary Kay, "Grandma" Yearis, Angeline Farley, Mary C. Lightner, Mrs. Honor, Sarah Harrison, Mrs. Elmer, Mrs. Stringham and Mrs. Robbins.

Only eight of the number who attended the first gathering in 1892 have passed away in the four years. Those who have gone beyond were Sarah S. Richards, grandmother of Senator Cannon, Kessie Davis, Charlotte Regulator, Mrs. Rich, wife of Apostle Rich and mother of Ben E. Rich, Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Farr, wife of Lorin Farr, Grandmother Williams and Grandma Keyes.

Many of the ladies were old playmates and have undergone the hardships of pioneer life together. And their pleasure at being brought together again to renew old associations and talk over old times was too deep for words to utter. There was no formal entertainment. The guests were made to feel at home. They chatted, rested or roamed about the house and grounds as they pleased. Presidents George C. Cannon, Joseph F. Smith, Bishop John R. Winder of Salt Lake were in Ogden, and together with President L. W. Shurtliff were invited by Mrs. Cannon to the first table with the elder of the ladies present, an invitation which they readily accepted.

A number of songs, recitations and the like were given by various guests during the afternoon. All without exception seemed bright and quite spry, though nearly all were over 70, and several over 80 years of age. The day passed rapidly and all seemed loath to depart, but all did so with profound feelings of thanks to Mrs. Cannon and the other kind people who had brought them together and made the day a bright one to look back to, and coming days of this kind bright ones to look forward to as the years go by.

Friday night a pleasant surprise party was arranged in honor of Miss Barbara Torgerson by a number of her friends. The affair was a very pleasant and successful one; games, refreshments and other pastimes made the evening a merry one. Among the guests were Misses Alice Anderson, Joan Weaver, Edna Weaver, Mollie Woods, Maggie Boyett, Lizzie Lockhead, Nellie Barrett, Angeline Harris, Nellie Christie, Emma Woodward, Annie Ingerbretsen, Christina Ingerbretsen, Ada Farry and Leona, and Messrs. Paul Ingerbretsen, Walter Pary, Charles Pary, James Carlson, Charles Nelson, Theodore Tracy, Thompson, William Lockhead, Joseph Torgerson, Walter Tracy, Alexander Moyses, Charles Critchlow, Browning, Bolston, Chandler, Henry Keller, Charles Hinchcliff and Dan Ogden.

Miss Louisa Minty visited in Salt Lake during the week.

Mrs. J. T. Payne, of Wall avenue, has returned from a visit to Stockton, where she will occupy their cottage for the remainder of the summer.

A number of Mrs. Sherwood's pupils gave a recital one evening of last week.

Miss Pio Hadley, formerly of Ogden but now of Salt Lake, visited friends here during the week. She returns home today.

Miss Lillian Stayner went to visit her brother in Salt Lake last week.

A morning club has been formed by a number of prominent society people. High five will be played one morning each week. The first meeting was at the home of Mrs. J. L. Reynolds on Twenty-fourth street, the following ladies being present: Misses Park, Maginnis, Mesdames Brick, Lathrop, Somersfield, Stewart, Ruffin, Ross, Williams, Brown, Robinson, Pierce, Maginnis, Perkins and Gill. Mrs. W. R. Williams won the prize, a beautiful silver in pansies.

The Macabees Mandolin club will accompany the Knights of the Macabees on their excursion to Saltair July 20.

Dr. and Mrs. N. F. Donaldson, of North Platte, Neb., were guests at the Hot Springs last week. They are old friends of Mr. and Mrs. Truesdell.

Miss Minnie Kiesel entertained a large number of her friends at a dancing party Monday night. Ford's orchestra furnished the music for dancing in the Weber stake academy. Refreshments were served out doors on the newly decorated lawn of the Kiesel home after the dancing.

Mr. Fred Nye, son of Mr. J. C. Nye, is home from Knox college.

George C. Lambert visited in Ogden a few days last week returning home to Salt Lake Friday.

A very pleasant surprise party was given Friday night by the pupils of the intermediate Sunday school class of the Third ward. The following were present: Alice Cave, Anderson, Bertha and Pearl Hallowell, Bessie Moyses, Edith Farr, Verna Bowman, Grace Davis, Beatrice Allen, Myrtle Banks, Lena Blair, Annie Cave, Joseph Torgerson, Ray Eccles, Alexander Moyses, Walter Tracy, David Harris, Maynard Nelson, D. R. Davis, Roy Wierling, Delbert Chase and Hilmar Anderson.

Friday night a number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ren Ford pleasantly surprised them. The occasion was Mrs. Ford's birthday, and a most enjoyable evening was spent with eatables and drinkables, music and conversation. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Melgarm, Mrs. Hooper, Mrs. Browning, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Ledwidge, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thatcher.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Corley will soon leave with their family for a summer trip to Summit, Idaho.

Brighton Notes.

The old popular summer resort, Brighton, at the head of Big Cottonwood canyon, is being peopled again. Its summer population has commenced the journey up the canyon to escape the heat and dust of Zion. And what a change it is! Where the thermometer scarcely ever goes above 80 degrees in the shade—and acres of shade, beneath swaying pines, with no dust and frequent rains, with some of the grandest scenery in the west, who can say it is not an ideal summer resort. People who spend one summer at Brighton always return. There is one feature about Brighton that makes it a popular resort for people who have little children—the beneficial effect it has on children suffering from any of the numerous complaints brought on by the intense heat of the city. Many parents of Salt Lake state that the lives of their little ones have been saved by a trip to Brighton when everything else has failed.

Mrs. Inghart, wife of the city editor of the Tribune, with her two little boys, was the first to occupy a cottage this season.

Judge Howat's family is here, domiciled in "the house on the Jack built," the same cottage they occupied last year. The fish are aware of the fact that the judge will be up in a few days and are keeping quiet.

Among the cottages that will be occupied the first of the week will be those of H. W. Lawrence, C. P. Brooks, Mrs. Hemphrest, C. A. Short, Harry Haynes and Albert Staten.

George T. Odell's family will occupy the Hampton cottage this season.

The hotel will be run this year by Dan and Tom Brighton. Both of the boys have been connected with the place since it has been a resort and understand how to run it to please their guests. They will also run the stage line up the canyon. Stages leaving the Cullen hotel every morning at 8 o'clock. Arrangements will be made also whereby guests can reach Brighton by rail to Park City, over the scenic line, the Utah Central, and Kimpball Pass, stages from the Park to Brighton. The Brighton stage will carry the mail every day and if persons expecting to spend the summer here will have their mail addressed to Brighton, Big Cottonwood canyon, care of box 1920, Salt Lake city, it will reach them through the kindness of Brighton Bros. Judging from the number of people who have engaged rooms at the hotel already, there will be quite a rush to these "tops of the mountains" this summer. The hotel was opened on the 10th inst.

Drs. Plummer and A. C. Ewing have bought a cottage and will be up with their families about the first of August.

A number of new cottages will be built during the summer.

It's worth a trip to Brighton to get a drink out of the Puchman spring. It's as cold as ever.

The road in the canyon at what is known as "the narrows," about three miles above Argenta, was washed out during the high water season and about a large force of men have been at work constantly, it was not finished until last evening (Saturday). Teams have been going over the South Fork hill, which is very steep. The regular road is now open and teams can get through without difficulty. C. A. S.
